An Angel of the Heights by Jonathan Wiltshire

Dear Friends and Spiritual Family,

As Michaelmas approaches, it is as if the veils between the Angel Kingdom and our own is thinning. Perhaps this is due to an increase in our awareness of them. I know at Questhaven this is certainly taking place. Every week dancers, singers, players and bell ringers are gathering to selflessly prepare a celebration in honor of the wonderful service these Angels give to God. Truly as our attention opens to Them, they draw near.

What preparations are you doing to open your consciousness to the Angels more completely?

Human beings are recipients of Angelic benedictions or empowerments at all the vital and critical occasions of their lives. This means that at birth, at great religious rites, at marriage, at death, as well as at other significant times, we are attended by the Shining Ones.

Angelic intervention and encouragement is given sincere aspirants who seek spiritual direction prayerfully and worthily. Nearly every field of human endeavor, if not every field, receives mental and inspirational stimulus from Angelic Hosts.

Since we are the beneficiaries of countless Angelic ministries, we should often pause to reflect upon the frequent encounters we have with Angelic Orders, even though we may still be insensitive to their presences.

Let us take this into our hearts and practice this week as Michaelmas approaches.

As I write this, I am looking at the church altar, which looks more like a beautiful garden. During Michaelmas, it is to represent the Garden of Prayer on the inner where our prayers in great sincerity can be lifted with the help of the Angels of Prayer. At a time when world peace is so needed, we are going to present four different pray-ers from different religions around the globe. We will watch as they offer their prayers of peace through music and dance, then witness through Flower's descriptions the portrayal of how the Angels work with them selflessly for their highest unfolding. What a wonderful way to honor these shining servers of God!

In the name of Christ who is the Lord of Angels and of all humanity, may this reawaken the world to the reality of Angels.

Soaring on the wings of this truth,
Your Brother in Christ,
Reverend Blake Isaac
